Dear Mr. Villarreal-Gonda,

It was a pleasure to meet with you at the 2014 NAFSA Conference. I enjoyed meeting you and I hope we can find ways to support each other. In order to keep the line of communications flowing between our institutions, I thought I'd share with you our brochure for the Saint Louis University School of Law LL.M. for Foreign Lawyers Program.

Saint Louis University School of Law's one-year LL.M. degree for foreign law graduates provides an introduction to U.S. law for highly qualified individuals seeking to enhance their legal careers. The Center for International and Comparative Law at Saint Louis University has offered this program since 1991. We offer a comprehensive curriculum with significant coursework opportunities in international and comparative law, health law, employment law, business, commercial and tax law, criminal litigation, civil litigation, urban development, land use and environmental law and intellectual property. Our program is distinguished due to our focus on each student's needs. With faculty and staff support, students are able to select their course of study and successfully fulfill their professional goals.

Please see the enclosed brochure for program details. Please feel free to contact me if you would like more brochures or more information about our program.

Sincerely,

Ira Herenda Trako
